

Kindergarten Readiness Language and Fine Motor Summer Camp

Early learning is critical to success in later grades and research shows that noticeable gaps in skills often occur before a child enters kindergarten. In this innovative summer camp facilitated by a speech language pathologist and occupational therapist, kids will participate in a variety of engaging multi-sensory activities and games designed to enhance pre-academic skills while developing phonological awareness, language concepts, self-regulation, fine motor manipulation needed for independent self-care and writing, and social interaction. The camp will include a speech and language screening as well as a fine motor screening to tailor activities to each child's developmental level. At the end of the week, your child will receive tailored recommendations on activities to do throughout the summer to support language and fine motor skill progression.
